As we continue to watch the COVID-19 pandemic unfold across the world, many of you will have questions and concerns about what's being done to prevent and manage a potential COVID outbreak in this area.

A significant development in recent months is the establishment of a dedicated Residential Aged Care Collaborative, between care providers and the Local Health District aimed at strengthening our plans and preparedness.

To help answer some of your questions, a short video presentation is now available for you to view. The video features our CEO, Mark Sewell and another aged care leader in the region, as well as the Chief Executive of the Illawarra Shoalhaven Local Health District.

Please remember, if you have any questions please email us: warrigal@warrigal.com.au
